

The Best Boss

Do you remember your best boss? Do you wonder “Am I a best boss?” or “What does a best boss do?” then this course is for you!

Whatever title you go by (boss, manager, owner, leader) today’s best boss is vital to the guiding the achievement of goals while interacting effectively with individuals at all levels of the organization. Their primary responsibility is to make sure the organization’s goals are achieved, and yet they know that they can’t do it alone. They are the glue that unites employees with the organization’s goals. They paint a picture of what needs to be done and then they help employees achieve it. The key is understanding that the best bosses are the ones who know what people want from work and provide the environment for success.

This interactive course will provided bosses with a means of assessing their behaviors in leading, motivating and inspiring their employees. Knowing more about your leadership skills will enable you to leverage your strengths and improve your weaknesses. Input from those who work for you is encouraged (there’s a short assessment they fill out) but is not required.

Objectives: After completing this workshop participants will be able to:

- Become familiar with the six Best Boss skill sets
- Understand their personal perception of their areas of strengths and areas for improvement
- Understand what their employees consider to be their strengths and weaknesses (if employees fill out assessments of their boss)
- Learn how to tap into the motivations and strengths of their employees
- Be able to apply what they learn back on the job in the “real world”

Who will benefit:

- Business Owners and Managers
- Leaders and Managers who operate by influence (no direct reports)
- Supervisors
- Office Managers and Professionals who have employees reporting to them or who influence subordinates
